

Higher Education

Overview

Post & Schell represents clients in higher education in a wide variety of compliance and litigation needs, including education legal liability, labor and employment, and general liability matters, through our industry-focused Higher Education Practice Group and broader practice groups.

We serve clients that include:

- Non-profit and for-profit colleges and universities
- Academic medical centers, medical schools, and teaching hospitals
- Insurers focused on colleges and universities

Several of our attorneys are members of the National Association of College and University Attorneys (NACUA), the premier organization in the field of higher education law.

Legal services we provide the higher education industry include:

- Appellate
- Commercial litigation
- Construction projects
- Data privacy and breaches
- Employment, employee relations, and labor matters
- Environmental
- General liability
- Government and internal investigations
- Health care law
- Professional liability
- Transactional counsel
- Workers' compensation defense