We represent and defend manufacturers and distributors in a wide variety of complex products liability cases.

Overview

Manufacturers continue to be frustrated with the large number of lawsuits alleging defects in their products. At Post & Schell we understand the economic chill that these lawsuits can place upon a manufacturer. Our products liability group represents manufacturers and distributors in a wide variety of complex products cases. We serve in the capacity of national and regional counsel to both manufacturers and insurance companies and routinely provide educational and consulting services in the avoidance and defense of product liability claims. We handle complex product liability cases in the following areas:

- Automobiles
- Breast implant litigation
- Complex rehabilitation technology (CRT)
- Construction equipment/materials
- Consumer goods and appliances
- Durable medical equipment (DME)
- Elevator/escalator
- Firearms
- Fire damage
- Medical device
- Heavy equipment
- Industrial equipment
- Pharmaceuticals
- Printing presses
- Recreational products
