PHILADELPHIA, PA – May 6, 2015 – Post & Schell, P.C. is pleased to announce that seven of the Firm’s Associates have been elected as Principals:

- Stephen S. Bloomberg is now a Principal in the Firm’s Workers’ Compensation Department, resident in its Pittsburgh Office.
- Marcie Courtney is now a Principal in the Firm’s Professional Liability and Medical Malpractice Defense Practice Groups, resident in its Philadelphia Office.
- Darren M. Creasy is now a Principal in the Firm’s Employment & Employee Relations Practice Group, resident in its Philadelphia Office.
- Matthew T. Newcomer is now a Principal in the Firm’s Internal Investigations & White Collar Defense Practice Group, resident in its Philadelphia Office.
- Karyn Dobroskey Rienzi is now a Principal in the Firm’s Appellate Department, resident in its Philadelphia Office.
- David W. Warburton is now a Principal in the Firm’s Workers’ Compensation Department, resident in its Lancaster Office.
- Christopher T. Wright is now a Principal in the Firm’s Energy & Utilities Practice Group, resident in its Harrisburg Office.

“It is my pleasure to congratulate all of the Firm’s new Principals,” said A. James Johnston, President & Chief Executive Officer of Post & Schell, P.C. “The attorneys elected as Principals have all garnered reputations with their clients as excellent attorneys, focused on providing counsel and results crucial to their clients’ businesses. Each of them has also shown a commitment to the growth of the Firm and the success of their fellow attorneys at Post & Schell.”

As a Principal in the Firm’s statewide Workers’ Compensation Department, Mr. Bloomberg represents a wide array of clients, from national corporations to small, locally-owned businesses, in workers’ compensation matters. He has represented clients before Workers’ Compensation Judges throughout western Pennsylvania, the Workers’ Compensation Appeal Board, and the Commonwealth Court of Pennsylvania.

Ms. Courtney, a Principal in the Firm's Professional Liability Defense Department, focuses her practice on the defense of hospitals, physicians, nurses, physical therapists, respiratory therapists, and other health care providers in complex cases involving catastrophic injuries with high financial exposure. She is a litigator, whose trial, arbitration and mediation experience includes the defense of health care providers in a diverse range of cases, including those involving alleged injuries and death from/due to: negligent medical care; the failure to diagnose and properly treat various medical conditions; and the failure to provide appropriate psychiatric care to mentally ill patients, among others.

As a Principal in Post & Schell's Employment & Employee Relations Practice Group, Mr. Creasy's comprehensive labor and employment defense practice is focused primarily on civil actions arising under most major federal and state employment statutes, including: the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA), Titles I and III of the Americans With Disabilities Act (ADA), the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA), Title VII, and the National Labor Relations Act (NLRA), among others.

Mr. Newcomer, a Principal in the Firm's Internal Investigations & White Collar Defense Practice Group, has a national practice counseling clients in a spectrum of industries including health care, pharmaceutical and medical device, financial services, securities and government contracting. Mr. Newcomer conducts internal investigations and defends corporations, officers and other individuals facing civil and criminal investigation.

Karyn Dobroskey Rienzi is a Principal in the Firm's Appellate Department, providing clients counsel and representation in all aspects of both pre-trial and post-trial appellate matters. Her appellate experience includes the areas of products liability, employment, insurance defense, casualty, medical malpractice, bad faith, and workers compensation. Ms. Rienzi has represented clients at arbitration hearings, at trial, and before Pennsylvania appellate courts.

Mr. Warburton is a Principal in the Firm's statewide Workers' Compensation Department, focusing his practice on workers' compensation defense, handling all types of claims up to and including the Workers' Compensation Appeal Board level. His decade of trial and litigation experience includes hundreds of judicial proceedings and depositions, as well as appellate experience.

As a Principal in the Firm's Energy & Utilities Practice Group in Harrisburg, Mr. Wright represents major electric and gas utilities in state and federal regulatory and transactional matters before the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission (PAPUC) and Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). Mr. Wright has extensive experience in obtaining regulatory approvals for high voltage electric transmission facilities. He also counsels clients in compliance matters and provides multijurisdictional research on a variety of topics.
